Biography

I was graduated from Medical School at 1975 and became a specialist in infectious disease at 1979. I organized and set up two infectious diseases clinics; at Cumhuriyet University, Sivas and Erciyes University, Kayseri in Turkey. I was appointed as a Professor in 1993. I have interested in some selected zoonotic diseases; anthrax, brucellosis etc., potential bioterrorism agents and counter measurements, sepsis and communicable infectious diseases which were endemic disease in this region and also HIV infection. I actively joined to work on the preparation of WHO Anthrax Guidelines in 1998 and 2008. I also organized the Turkish Society of Hospital Infection and Control in 2000 and worked as president between 2000 and 2004. Currently, I am also a member of Zoonoses Working Group of International Society of Chemotherapy. Until today, over 250 scientific papers and 50 book chapter which is writing in Turkish and English were released and of which, over 125 appeared in the journals indexing by pubmed or SCI / SCI-expanded.
